Investment Strategy

This Fund is designed for investors who decided to invest their money for at least 8 years with the aim to acquire a higher appreciation. The Fund is focused on investments into the energy sector, involving the production of electric energy, mining and processing of oil, coal and natural gas. These are strategic sectors, being the backbone of each economy where the demand is continuously growing due to the growth of global population and industrialisation of developing countries, headed by India and China. The portfolio contains primarily European and American companies with a stable market position. In addition, the portfolio also contains companies from the emerging markets region (developing markets) and companies dealing with alternative energies.
