Independent Auditor's Report to the Shareholder of Generali Investments CEE, investiční společnost, a.s.

Opinion

We have audited the accompanying financial statements of Generali Investments CEE, investiční společnost, a.s. ("the Company"), prepared in accordance with Czech accounting legislation, which comprise the balance sheet as at 31 December 2022, and the income statement, the statement of changes in equity and the cash flow statement for the year then ended, and notes to the financial statements, including a summary of significant accounting policies and other explanatory notes. Information about the Company is set out in Note 1 to the financial statements.

In our opinion, the accompanying financial statements give a true and fair view of the financial position of the Company as at 31 December 2022, and of its financial performance and its cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with Czech accounting legislation.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with the Act on Auditors, and Auditing Standards of the Chamber of Auditors of the Czech Republic, consisting of International Standards on Auditing (ISAs), which may be supplemented and amended by relevant application guidelines. Our responsibilities under those regulations are further described in the Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of the Company in accordance with the Act on Auditors and the Code of Ethics adopted by the Chamber of Auditors of the Czech Republic, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Other Information

In accordance with Section 2(b) of the Act on Auditors, other information is defined as information included in the annual report other than the financial statements and our auditor's report. The statutory body is responsible for the other information.

Our opinion on the financial statements does not cover the other information. In connection with our audit of the financial statements, our responsibility is to read the other information and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the financial statements or our knowledge obtained in the audit, or otherwise appears to be materially misstated. In addition, we assess whether the other information has been prepared, in all material respects, in accordance with applicable laws and regulations, in particular, whether the other information complies with laws and regulations in terms of formal requirements and the procedure for preparing the other information in the context of materiality, i.e. whether any non-compliance with those requirements could influence judgments made on the basis of the other information.

Based on the procedures performed, to the extent we are able to assess it, we report that:

- the other information describing matters that are also presented in the financial statements is, in all material respects, consistent with the financial statements; and
- the other information has been prepared in accordance with applicable laws and regulations.

In addition, our responsibility is to report, based on the knowledge and understanding of the Company obtained in the audit, on whether the other information contains any material misstatement. Based on the procedures we have performed on the other information obtained, we have not identified any material misstatement.

Responsibilities of the Statutory Body and Supervisory Board for the Financial Statements

The statutory body is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in accordance with Czech accounting legislation and for such internal control as the statutory body determines is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, the statutory body is responsible for assessing the Company's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless the statutory body either intends to liquidate the Company or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

The Supervisory Board is responsible for overseeing the Company's financial reporting process.

Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with the above regulations will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with the above regulations, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by the statutory body.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of the statutory body's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Company to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS

Ladies and gentlemen,

2022 was marked by increased unrest on the financial markets due to a series of adverse occurrences. The factors that negatively impacted the economy were further interlinked: the war in Ukraine, the energy crisis, inflation, and the central banks' hawkish monetary position. These problems continue to impact the economy and financial markets. Despite the continued difficult conditions in the previous year, our Company managed to achieve growth and now manages over CZK 3.2 billion in new investments. I see this primarily as a proof of trust of our existing and new clients in our investment experts and in the stability of our Company, which continues to belong among the largest asset managers in Central and Eastern Europe.

Generali Investments places great emphasis on its offer of funds to satisfy the risk appetite as well as the individual preferences and interests of all types of investors. We evaluate market conditions in detail and prepare products that can bring revenues even during unstable periods – such as the three tranches of the Generali Guaranteed Share Revenue Fund. During the accumulation period, clients invested CZK 1.9 billion in total in the fund, thus confirming enormous interest in this product which offers a 100% guarantee of the invested amount. In autumn 2022, our offer was expanded with the Irish fund Generali Short-Term Investments Fund, which makes use of the current high interest rate environment in its investment strategy. 2022 was also significant for the Generali Real Estate Fund, which realised the largest purchase of retail real estate in its history, totalling over CZK 1.5 billion. The fund brought revenue of 8% to its investors.

Last year was not easy for the non-profit organisations we have been cooperating with to improve the lives of many children and adults with various limitations through their unwavering activities. Our continuous support is crucial for their continued existence, and thus the Good Will Committee – Olga Havlová Foundation (Výbor dobré vůle – Nadace Olgy Havlové), the Leontinka Foundation (Nadace Leontinka), and several day care centres will continue to find a stable partner in us.

Our long-term priorities include environmental protection, as we engage in it intensively not only through investments but also through direct financial support and other forms of support to relevant projects. In 2022, in addition to the continued cooperation with the Běhej lesy (Run the Forests) series of cross-country races, we also became a partner of the related #bezdotpadu (zero impact) project. Both initiatives are aimed at mitigating the impact of sports events on the environment and educating the public on the correct sorting of waste. Finally, we are also engaged in the Neleň, zeleň! (Do not be lazy and help nature) challenge that helped runners exchange run kilometres for tree seedlings to be planted all over the country.

As one of the largest investment companies on the Czech market, we see the wider impact of our activities, not only the immediate ones such as increases in the assets of our retail and corporate investors. At the same time, investments are among the main drivers behind economic and social changes as they often promote new ideas and directions. This comprehensive approach is reflected in the wide range of our investment products. I believe that this is another reason for us to be your natural choice in the investment world.

Josef Beneš

Chairman of the Board of Directors

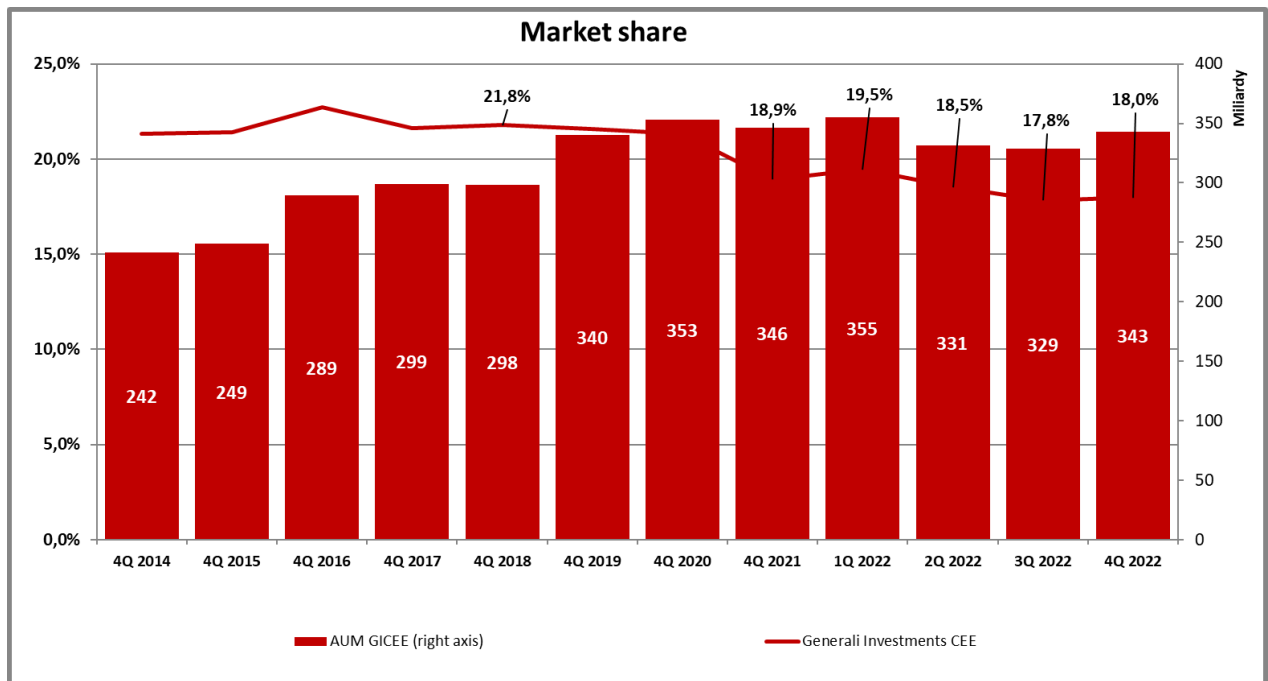

ABOUT THE COMPANY

Generali Investments CEE, investiční společnost, a.s. (“Generali Investments CEE” or the “Company”) is an investment company providing collective investment and asset management services. The Company has been active in the market since 1991 (formerly under the name ČP INVEST investiční společnost, a.s.) and, according to the latest Czech Capital Market Association data, it is the largest investment company operating in the Czech market, with assets under management valued at more than CZK 343 billion (as at 31 December 2022).

Generali Investments CEE offers a comprehensive range of products and services to individual investors and institutions in the field of collective investments and asset management. Its strong analytical background allows the Company to provide professional asset management services in particular to municipalities, foundations and institutional investors, primarily insurance and reinsurance companies and pension funds.

The basic portfolio on offer to individual investors comprises the Czech mutual funds of Generali Investments CEE in CZK and the Irish investment funds of Generali Invest CEE plc offered in CZK and EUR. The offer of direct investments in investment funds is supplemented by regular investment products, investment programmes and life cycle products.

Generali Investments CEE is a member of the Generali Group that was established in 1831 and is one of the largest global providers of insurance. The Group operates in 50 countries, and its total premium income amounted to over EUR 66 billion in 2018. With nearly 72,000 employees serving 61 million clients, the Group holds a leading position in Western Europe and has an increasingly significant presence in the markets of Central and Eastern Europe and Asia. Generali’s ambition is to partner with its clients throughout their lives, offering them innovative and personalised solutions through an unparalleled business network.

CZECH ECONOMY: SUMMARY OF DEVELOPMENTS IN 2022 AND OUTLOOK FOR 2023

Economic developments in 2022 were affected by extraordinary circumstances brought about by the war in Ukraine. The second half of 2021 was already marked by rising inflationary pressures, driven by strong domestic demand at the national level and rising commodity prices on global markets across Europe and elsewhere. While originally forecast for the spring months of 2022, a calming of inflation did not materialise. The conflict in Ukraine led to further increases in energy and food prices. Inflation in Europe continued to rise for most of 2022 and in some cases would not peak until early 2023. High inflation led to tighter monetary policy and adversely affected household consumption and hence overall economic performance (GDP) through its impact on real household incomes. The full-year GDP performance was solid: for the US economy, the official estimate of GDP growth for 2022 is 2%; for the euro area, it is 3.5%. The euro area economy was able to maintain quarter-on-quarter GDP growth at the end of 2022, and growth is likely to pick up slightly in the first quarter of 2023. The performance of the US economy may falter during the spring months of 2023, as high inflation and an associated rise in interest rates will adversely affect household consumption and demand in general. For all of 2023, GDP growth could be in the range of 0.5% to 1.0% in both the euro area and the US.

Inflationary pressures in advanced economies should start to ease later this year. However, inflation will remain above the inflation target and the turnaround in the stance of central banks, which remain focused on fighting inflation in early 2023, will be cautious. Both the Fed in the US and the ECB in the euro area will raise their interest rates further in the first half of the year. A turnaround towards interest rate cuts could occur at the end of 2023 in the case of the US central bank, but the ECB is unlikely to turn towards the easing of monetary policy this year.

The Central European region also experienced rising inflation last year, with adverse effects on real household incomes, consumption, and overall economic performance. The Czech economy showed solid GDP growth in the first half of 2022, but the negative impact of the above factors was already evident in the second half of the year. According to preliminary data, GDP growth for 2022 was 2.5%. However, the second half of the year was marked by quarter-on-quarter declines in GDP, and we estimate full-year GDP growth in 2023 to be around 0.5%.

Year-on-year inflation in the Czech economy peaked at 18% last September, it was 15.8% in December. Inflation should start to fall during the first quarter of 2023 but will not approach the 2% target until the first half of 2024. Last year, the CBN raised its main interest rate by a total of three and a quarter percentage points to 7.00%. The CNB's last increase was in June, and since then interest rates have been stable. We expect that the next rate move will be downward, but the CNB will not make such a move until the second half of this year at the earliest.

Central European currencies were adversely affected by uncertainties related to the war in Ukraine and rising commodity prices. Nevertheless, the Czech crown managed to strengthen against the euro during the year. Foreign exchange interventions practised by the CNB from May to early autumn helped to stabilise the crown, and in late 2022 and early this year, it rode on a positive mood on global markets.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Rising inflationary pressures have led to a response from central banks, including the Fed and the ECB. The US central bank raised its main interest rate by 425 basis points to 4.50% in 2022, while the ECB raised the deposit rate by 250 basis points to 2%. Both central banks can be expected to raise interest rates at least in the first half of 2023. Government bond yields rose in this environment: the yield on the 10-year German government bond rose from the -0.20% area (December 2021) to above 2.55% (December 2022). Government bond performance was negative on a full-year basis in both advanced economies and, in most cases, emerging markets. Equity markets were mixed, but the major indices in the US and the euro area posted declines, as did Central European equities. Investments in credit instruments (corporate bonds) performed negatively in most cases, influenced by the rise in risk-free yields led by US government bonds.

The CNB started raising interest rates as early as June 2021, increasing the two-week repo rate from 0.25% to 3.75% during 2021. The repo rate went to 7.00% in the first half of 2022 and has been stable since then. We expect interest rates to remain stable in the first half of this year. In the second half of 2023, in our view, the CNB will start to cut interest rates and the repo rate could fall to 5% by the end of the year. The repo rate will not reach its equilibrium level, which is estimated to be close to 3%, until 2024 at the earliest. Government bond yields rose last year: the 10-year yield rose from 2.90% to 5.05%. The Prague Stock Exchange reported a decline of nearly 16% in 2022. The Czech crown appreciated by more than 4% on average, breaking the 24.00 per euro level in the first days of this year. The koruna subsequently appreciated to the level of 23.70 per euro, which in our view exhausts the potential for further significant appreciation of the Czech currency in the rest of 2023.

CORPORATE SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY

Generali Investments CEE sees corporate social responsibility as a priority. Supportive activities that benefit society as a whole are a crucial aspect of our approach to business. Our care and support cover several different areas, such as helping the disabled and socially disadvantaged, protecting the environment or creating equal conditions and a healthy workplace environment for our own employees. Last but not least, as an investment company, we focus, inter alia, on investments in the “green economy”. We discuss these topics in more detail below.

We help those in need and cooperate with foundations, day care centres and the Kolín Monastery

Generali Investments CEE pays considerable attention to social responsibility. We provide long-term financial support to partner organizations that help people with disabilities and socially disadvantaged groups and conduct various community service activities to improve the community.

We encourage employees to engage in activities closely associated with social responsibility. As an employer, we provide them with Volunteer Days, i.e., days off specifically reserved for charitable purposes. Generali Group employees can take off two days per year for voluntary work in non-profit organizations. They can help in an organization of their choice or sign up through the www.zapojimse.cz portal offering various volunteering opportunities.

Through charity “markets” held at times of the year like Christmas or Easter, employees may contribute to aids for the physically handicapped by purchasing products or small items, thus supporting a particular individual through their financial contribution.

Our support also goes to recent graduates who find themselves on the labour market after finishing their studies and ready to start their career, as well as students who already wish to become involved in our Company’s activities while still undertaking their studies.

In relation to the war in Ukraine, in 2022, we decided to offer a year internship in our company to several Ukrainian university students – and we will continue this programme this year. Students who were forced to flee their homeland will be able to use their knowledge gained during studies in real life. During the programme, they will learn about different departments and meet the company management. The internship also includes an intensive Czech language course and cooperation with our mentors who will help them to adapt more easily.

As a company whose priorities have always included social responsibility, we have close links to several non-profit organisations. Of all of them, we would like to mention the Výbor dobré vůle – Nadace Olgy

Havlové (Good Will Committee – Olga Havlová Foundation), the Leontinka Foundation, which focuses on vision-impaired students, and several day-care centres.

In 2022, we participated in the “S Leontinkou kolem ČR (Let’s go around the Czech Republic with Leontinka)” project under the auspices of The Human Safety Net global initiative of the Generali group. This was a fund-raising sports event to secure funds for prematurely born children who receive expert care in the Early care centre in České Budějovice. The route was 2,326 kilometres and the proceeds of the event were shared between the early care consultancy centres in Brno, Olomouc, Central Bohemia Region, and the Prague Teaching Hospital in Motol.

We specifically support:

Výbor dobré vůle – Nadace Olgy Havlové

(Good Will Committee – Olga Havlová Foundation) Helping people with disabilities, people who are destitute and discriminated against in their integration into society, support of other non-governmental non-profit organizations in healthcare, social, humanitarian and educational areas, if they focus on the integration of people with disabilities, abandoned children, the sick and the elderly.

Denní stacionář AKORD  (AKORD Daycare Centre)

Providing outpatient services to children, youth and adults aged 6 to 45 – people with mental disabilities and combined disorders who, due to their disability, need ongoing assistance with self-care, personality development and advocacy of their rights and interests.

Nadace Leontinka  (Leontinka Foundation)

Assistance provided to vision-impaired children and youth in order to allow them to be integrated into society, educated and engaged in social, sports and leisure activities. The Foundation works with special schools for children with visual impairment and supports specialized clinics and training centres for these people.

Dětské centrum Paprsek (Paprsek Centre for Children with Special Needs)

The Centre's mission is to enable families with children with disabilities and special needs to live a life that is as close as possible to the life of any other family with young children. The Centre helps integrate these children into everyday life and society. The services are designed to provide timely support and professional assistance and to mitigate the consequences of disability.

Nadace Jakuba Voráčka (Jakub Voracek Foundation)

The Foundation is committed to ensuring the availability of treatment and rehabilitation for all patients with multiple sclerosis and provides a comprehensive program for patients newly diagnosed with this disease. The Foundation's other activities include effective support of MS research and fundraising to meet patients' needs.

The Kolín monastery

The Kolín monastery is a centre of spirituality and spiritual exercises. The organisation has been established with the aim to provide the public with opportunities for better self-recognition and spiritual and personal development. The Kolín monastery team consists of experts and lecturers and includes mainly priests, friars, theologians, psychologists, and therapists. All of them are there to help everyone interested in working on their development (irrespective of the relevant religion). They guide the participants of the courses through various types of spiritual exercises, such as contemplations, prayers, or meditations. People holding demanding positions (such as managerial positions) at work can attend courses tailored for them.

We Live in the Community

The Human Safety Net (THSN) is Generali's new flagship community initiative. The key notion behind the THSN project is "a chain of people helping people", where those who receive help may one day pay it forward. The project was created in Italy in 2017 to protect and improve the lives of people beyond our daily work. In October 2018, Generali in the Czech Republic joined the global initiative.

The global THSN project focuses on three areas of assistance:

- 1) The first objective is to improve the conditions of modern obstetrics so that newborns are not at risk of asphyxia at birth. This dangerous condition arises in newborns due to reduced oxygen supply shortly after birth, resulting in decreased heart rate and decreased respiratory rate, which may result in a severe handicap or even death. In Europe, more than 30,000 newborn children are affected each year, of which around 5,000 die in consequence of the disease. In some parts of Asia, asphyxia afflicts more than 150,000 newborns each year.
- 2) The second area of support goes to families living at the poverty line. The aim is to ensure equal opportunities for children to receive proper education and improve their family background. In Europe alone, more than eight million children under the age of six live at the poverty line. The first six years are critical in a child's life, shaping their scholastic achievements, health and future career path.
- 3) The last area of focus of the THSN project is assistance to refugees, helping them with social integration in their new environment and business start-ups.

We care about the environment:

The Generali Group is actively involved in corporate social responsibility and environmental protection, including UN-sponsored activities. In 2007, we joined the UN project to create a voluntary global network of companies promoting a healthy environment and sustainable development.

Our corporate social responsibility and environmental objectives have taken the form of a set of direct and indirect measures:

The Generali Group has a direct environmental impact in its day-to-day activities. The main emphasis is on reducing energy, water and operating materials consumption and waste separation.

We have an indirect impact on the environment through selecting responsible business partners, in particular service suppliers or securities issuers.

In 2014, we adopted a new Group Policy for the Environment and Climate that replaced the original Generali Group Environmental Policy 2010; we updated the Policy to reflect changes in the Group and recent Company developments.

The Generali Group's new environmental policy focuses on the following key topics:

- environmental protection,
- prevention of pollution,
- protection and conservation of biodiversity,
- appropriate response to the challenges of climate change.

At Generali Investments CEE, we also respond to the need for an active approach to environmental protection by emphasizing the cost-effective management of resources within the Company and supporting environmentally-focused projects.

Since 2018, we have been the main partner of a series of outdoor races called Run the Forests (Běhej lesy). In addition to sporting activities for adults and children, this project also focuses on environmental issues and environmental protection. In 2022, in cooperation with Run the Forests, we again devoted our efforts to educating the wider public on plastic reduction and waste sorting – every year, we help to sort up to two tonnes of waste. We are glad that our efforts led to the introduction of environmentally friendly trail marking for the race last year.

In 2021 the last two years, our cooperation with the Run the Forests initiative also led to our involvement in the Neleň, zeleň! (Do not be lazy and help nature) appeal that helped the runners exchange run kilometres for tree seedlings to be planted all over the country, and in the #bez Dopadu (zero impact) project, aimed at mitigating the impact of sports events on the environment.

We look after our people

We value our employees and strive to make their work for Generali Investments CEE as pleasant as possible. We create a positive work environment that complies with safety and health regulations and ensure equal opportunities for all. We sensitively perceive differences between people and believe that team diversity contributes to improved performance of the entire Company.

We support our employees' personal and professional development and pay special attention to talent search and support programs at the international and Group level.

In an effort to promote the harmonization of the personal and professional lives of our employees, we focus on strategies to prevent work stress. We minimize overtime, regularly monitor employee absence due to stress, organize training and courses on healthcare and anti-stress techniques, enable working from home and taking unpaid leave. Last but not least, we conduct employee satisfaction surveys every two years.

We also pay special attention to parents on maternity and parental leave. We keep in touch with them for the duration of their maternity and parental leave and, upon their return to work, we accommodate their needs in the form of flexible work arrangements and part-time work.

We act ethically and transparently

We are committed to observing ethical principles in all areas of our business. Responsible business practices mean that we coordinate all activities so as to comply with the principles set out in the Group's Code of Conduct. They also mean constantly seeking improvements across the entire value chain and harmonizing business objectives and requirements with socially responsible conduct.

All Generali Group activities are based on fundamental values – quality, transparency and integrity. We believe in a person-centred approach and the building of relationships that are based on mutual trust resulting from the quality of our services.

Our Code sets out minimum standards of conduct to be followed, as well as specific rules of conduct in the following areas: promoting diversity and inclusion, protecting property and business data, conflict of interest, prohibiting bribes and corruption, financial information and insider dealing, prohibiting money laundering, terrorist financing and international sanctions.

In the conduct of business, we observe the following principles:

- We do business in compliance with law, internal regulations and the principles of professional ethics.
- We promote diversity and inclusion. We create a stimulating work environment, free of any kind of discrimination or harassment. We believe that collaboration between people from different cultures, with different skills, opinions and experiences, is fundamental in attracting talent and in enabling growth and innovation.
- We ensure a healthy, safe and secure workplace.
- Personal data are properly handled and the right to privacy must always be respected.
- Employees are obliged to act at all times in the Group's interest.

- We condemn and combat all forms of bribery and corruption.
- Customer satisfaction is a key factor in our strategic business vision.
- We recognize the vital nature of free competition in increasing business opportunities and improving performance.
- We ensure fairness, transparency and straightforwardness in our supplier relations.
- We take measures to prevent improper use of insider information and ensure fair management of securities transactions.
- We support the transparency of financial markets and carefully manage communications with the media, financial analysts and the public.
- We are committed to the international fight against money laundering and the financing of terrorism, and opposing any conduct that could be seen as supporting these crimes.
- The Group aims to contribute to economic and social development based on respect for fundamental human and labour rights and environmental protection. The Group promotes a culture of sustainability throughout its spheres of influence, specifically among its employees, customers and suppliers.

We invest responsibly

The Generali Group is one of the world's leading institutional investors with a significant influence on the real economy. Through its investments, the Group supports the transition to a sustainable economy and takes the opportunity to actively influence areas such as environmental protection and respect for human rights. For many years, the Generali Group has been increasing its share of investments in green industries and renewable energy sources.

In countries where the economy heavily depends on the coal sector, Generali has made it its mission to monitor and evaluate the plans of energy companies focusing on coal mining and to encourage a dialogue between various stakeholders.

When creating investment products and managing the funds, we strictly take into account the rules set by the Generali Group. These rules are based on the principles of the UN Global Compact initiative (the world's largest corporate social responsibility initiative backed by the UN) and the UN Principles of Responsible Investment. Specifically, the six main principles are:

- We will incorporate the CSR principles into investment analysis and decision-making processes.

- We will be active owners and incorporate the principles of CSR into the Group's internal policies and practices.
- We will seek appropriate application of the CSR principles by the entities in which we invest.
- We will promote acceptance and implementation of the CSR principles within the investment industry as a whole.
- We will work together to enhance our effectiveness in implementing the CSR principles.
- We will report on our activities and progress towards implementing the CSR principles.

We believe that adhering to these rules will help us appreciate invested funds and, at the same time, contribute to promoting the public interest.

Generali Investments CEE offers investors in the Czech Republic who are interested in investing in green industries the Generali Live Planet Fund. The Fund's portfolio exclusively comprises securities of companies focused on the "green economy" and social responsibility. These companies have a positive attitude to climate change, behave in an environmentally-friendly manner and observe the principles of social responsibility in such areas as water treatment, ecological stewardship, recycling, organic food, alternative energy sources and new materials.

The new Generali Sustainable Growth Fund has responded to this growing trend by investing exclusively into companies applying a sustainable approach in their operations. Its investments aim at profitable and stable global companies, mainly those listed on the global equity index MSCI World Minimum Volatility ESG Target, contributing to the protection of both climate and society, and creating conditions for sustainable development from the long-term perspective.

Relations between Related Parties are disclosed in the notes to the financial statements for the year ended 31 December 2022.

IV. Other juridical acts

No other legal actions were taken in the reporting period in the interest of the controlling person or in the interest of the Company or other related parties, and if any legal actions were taken in respect of the related parties, those were actions of general legal nature, performed under the conditions for performing legal actions by the controlling person in relation to the Company by virtue of its position as the Company's shareholder.

No measures were adopted in the reporting period for the benefit or at the initiative of the controlling person or other related parties, except for general measures adopted by the Company in relation to the controlling person by virtue of its position as the Company's shareholder.

In the reporting period, the Company was not subject to nor took any other legal actions in the interest or at the initiative of the related parties, where such actions concerned assets exceeding 10% of the Company's equity as determined from the last financial statements.

V. Performance rendered and detriment suffered by the controlled entity and the assessment of its settlement

All of the aforementioned agreements were entered into on an arm's length basis, as were all of the services provided and received under these agreements and contracts entered into in prior periods. No damage as defined in Section 71 or 72 of the Business Corporations Act has been incurred by the Company as a result of these agreements. In 2021, the Company did not adopt or implement any other measures or legal actions for the benefit or at the initiative of the related parties to the Company's detriment.

The Company did not gain any advantages or suffer any disadvantages or additional risks arising from the contracts.

The Company participates in the creation of Group projects and policies within the Generali Group. The Company suffered no loss or damage arising from such cooperation in light of Section 71 or 72 of the Business Corporations Act.

VI. Final representation

This Report was prepared by the Company's board of directors and also submitted to the auditor performing an audit of the Financial Statements on 31 March 2023.

In view of its statutory duties arising from the Business Corporations Act, the Company shall publish an annual report of which the Report is an integral part. In view of its obligations under the Business Corporations Act, the Company will issue an annual report, of which this Report will form an integral part; the resulting document, including this Report, will be reviewed by the Company's supervisory board.

2 ACCOUNTING POLICIES

(a) Basis of preparation

The financial statements have been prepared on the basis of underlying books of account of the Company maintained in accordance with Act No. 563/1991 Coll. on Accounting, as amended, and applicable regulations; in accordance with, and in the scope defined by the Regulation No. 501/2002 Coll. (“the Decree”) implementing certain provisions of Act No. 563/1991 Coll. on Accounting, as amended, for the accounting entities being banks and other financial institutions, which sets out the layout and content of the financial statement items and the scope of data to be published for banks and other financial institutions; and Czech Accounting Standards for financial institutions.

The arrangement and designation of items in the financial statements and the content of the items in the financial statements are determined in accordance with the Decree. At the same time, Section 4 (1) of the Decree stipulates that the Company shall, for the purposes of financial instrument reporting, measurement, and disclosure of information in the notes to the financial statements follow the International Accounting Standards regulated by directly applicable regulations of the European Union on the application of international accounting standards (“International Accounting Standards” or “IFRS”).

The financial statements are prepared on the accrual principle, that is, transactions and other events are recognized in the accounting period in which they occur and to which they relate in terms of substance and time.

The financial statements are prepared on the historical cost basis, which is modified by the revaluation of financial instruments measured at fair value through profit and loss. The accounting is maintained in accordance with the prudence principle and the going concern principle. The preparation of financial statements requires management of the Company to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosures of contingent assets and liabilities as at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. These estimates are based on the information available as at the date of the financial statements and actual results may differ from those estimates.

The financial statements include the balance sheet, income statement, statement of changes in equity, cash flow statement and notes to the financial statements.

The reporting currency used in the financial statements is the Czech crown (“CZK”) with accuracy to CZK thousand, unless indicated otherwise.

GENERALI
INVESTMENTS

These financial statements are standalone statements.

(b) Recognition and derecognition of financial assets and liabilities

Financial assets and financial liabilities are recognized at the moment the Company becomes a contractual partner to the transaction.

The Company derecognizes a financial asset or a part thereof when it loses control over the asset or its part. It loses this control when the contractual rights to the cash flows from the financial asset expire, are used by the Company or the Company surrenders these rights.

The Company removes a financial liability or a part thereof from its balance sheet when it is extinguished – i.e., when the obligation specified in the contract is discharged or cancelled or expires. The difference between the carrying amount of a liability (or a portion thereof) extinguished or transferred and the amount paid for is recognized net in profit or loss for the period.

Spot purchases and sales are recognized on a settlement date basis. When the trade date and the settlement date fall on the turn of year (i.e., each of the dates occurs in different calendar years), the trade is recognized in the off-balance sheet accounts.

(c) Financial assets and financial liabilities

Based on Decree No. 501/2002 Coll. effective from 1 January 2018, which was amended by Decree No. 442/2017 Coll. of 7 December 2017, the Company has complied with International Financial Reporting Standards (“IFRS”) for the purposes of financial instrument reporting, measurement and disclosure of information in the notes to the financial statements as of 1 January 2021.

From the Company’s perspective, the most significant impact of the change has been the application of IFRS 9 Financial Instruments pertaining to the classification of financial assets as of 1 January 2021.

Classification

IFRS 9 introduces two criteria for the classification of debt instruments:

- An entity's business model which refers to how an entity manages its financial assets in order to generate cash flows;
- A test of the characteristics of contractual cash flows arising from financial assets according to contractual terms agreed for the financial assets (i.e., whether the contractual terms of the financial asset give rise on specified dates to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding), the so-called solely payments of principal and interest (SPPI) test.

At initial recognition, a financial asset is classified as:

- measured at amortized cost (AC);
- measured at fair value through other comprehensive income (FVOCI);
- measured at fair value through profit or loss (FVTPL).

A financial asset can be measured at amortized cost only if both of the following conditions are met and it is not designated as a financial asset measured at fair value through profit or loss (FVTPL):

- The financial asset is held within a business model with the objective to hold financial assets to collect contractual cash flows.
- The contractual terms of the financial asset give rise on specified dates to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding.

A debt instrument is measured at fair value through other comprehensive income (FVOCI) only if it meets both of the following conditions and it is not designated as measured at fair value through profit or loss (FVTPL):

- The financial asset is held within a business model whose objective is achieved by both collecting contractual cash flows and selling financial assets.
- The contractual terms of the financial asset give rise on specified dates to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding.

For equity instruments, an entity has the option of measuring them at fair value through profit or loss (FVTPL) or at fair value through other comprehensive income (FVOCI); the choice made for specific individual equity financial assets upon initial recognition shall be irreversible. If the FVOCI option is applied, cumulative gains/losses recognized in OCI shall not be reclassified on derecognition (disposal) of the equity instrument.

GENERALI
INVESTMENTS

Other financial assets are measured at fair value through profit or loss (FVTPL).

Business model assessment

The business model reflects how groups of financial assets are managed together to achieve a specific business objective. Therefore, this condition does not represent an approach to classification by instrument individually but is set at a higher level of aggregation. In assessing the business model, all relevant information and evidence available at the assessment date is considered. Such relevant information and evidence include but are not limited to the following:

- the established methods and objectives for the portfolio and the approach to those methods in practice
- an assessment of the performance of the business model and the financial assets held within each business model
- the risks affecting the performance of the business models and financial assets held within the chosen business models and how those risks are managed
- how certain employees and managers of the GICEE are remunerated
- the frequency, volume and timing of sales in previous periods, the reasons for those sales and expectations for future sales. Sales information is not evaluated in isolation but as part of an overall assessment of how the entity's objectives for managing financial assets are achieved and how cash flows are realized.

Based on the method of managing financial instruments, the 'Hold to collect' business model was selected for the Company for current and savings account balances, term deposits, trade receivables and loans provided. These financial instruments shall be measured at amortized cost.

Assessment whether cash flows consist solely of principal and interest payments (the "SPPI test")

For the purposes of this assessment, 'principal' is defined as the fair value of the financial asset at initial recognition. 'Interest' is defined as the consideration for the time value of money and for the credit risk associated with the outstanding principal amount over a particular time period and for other basic lending risks and costs (e.g., liquidity risk and administrative costs), as well as any profit margin. In assessing whether cash flows are comprised solely of principal and interest payments, the Company evaluates the contractual terms of the instrument. This includes assessing whether the financial asset includes contractual arrangements that may change the timing and amount of the contractual cash flows.

Date of preparation: 17 April 2023

GENERALI
INVESTMENTS

As part of its evaluation, the Company assesses:

- contingent events that may change the timing and amount of the contractual cash flows
- leverage
- early repayment and maturity extension
- terms that restrict the entity from collecting cash flows from specific assets
- terms that modify the consideration for the time value of money (e.g., methods of periodic reset of the interest rate).

When the financial instrument under consideration fails the SPPI test, it is mandatorily measured at FVTPL. For the Company, this includes, e.g., participation certificates.

Reclassification

Financial assets are not reclassified after their initial recognition unless the Company changes its business model for managing financial assets in the current financial year.

Financial liabilities

Liabilities are measured at amortized cost or fair value to profit or loss if they are derivatives.

Derecognition

Financial assets

The Company derecognizes a financial asset when either:

- the contractual rights to the cash flows from the financial assets are extinguished
- it transfers the rights to receive the cash flows in a transaction in which substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership of the financial asset are transferred or in which the Company neither transfers nor retains substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership of the financial asset and it does not retain control of the financial asset.

When a financial asset is derecognized, the difference between

- the carrying amount of the asset (or the portion of the carrying amount allocated to the portion of the asset derecognized) and
- the sum of the consideration received (including any asset acquired less the value of any new liability assumed) and the cumulative gain or loss recognized in equity is recorded in profit or loss.

The cumulative gain or loss recognized in equity in respect of equity securities designated as at fair value through equity (FVOCI) is not recognized in the income statement on derecognition.

GENERALI
INVESTMENTS

If a company enters into transactions in which it transfers assets recognized on the balance sheet but retains all or substantially all risks and rewards associated with the transferred financial assets or portions of financial assets, the transferred assets are not derecognized. Examples of such transactions include securities lending and repurchase agreements.

Financial liabilities

An entity derecognizes a financial liability when its contractual obligations are discharged, cancelled, or expire.

Modification of financial assets and financial liabilities

Financial assets

If the terms of the financial asset are modified, the Company assesses whether the cash flows of the modified financial asset are substantially different.

If the cash flows are substantially different, then the contractual right to the cash flows from the original asset are deemed to have expired. In such a case, the original financial asset is derecognized, and the new financial asset is recognized and carried at fair value.

If the cash flows from the modified asset measured at amortized cost are not substantially different, the modification does not result in derecognition of the financial asset. The Company recalculates the gross carrying amount of the financial asset and recognizes the amount arising from the adjustment to the gross carrying amount as a gain or loss on modification in profit or loss.

Financial liabilities

The Company derecognizes a financial liability when its terms are modified and the cash flows of the modified liability are substantially different. In that case, the new financial liability is recognized at fair value based on the modified terms. The difference between the carrying amount of the extinguished financial liability and the new financial liability with the modified terms is recognized in profit or loss.

Fair value measurement

Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date in the principal (or most advantageous) market to which the entity has access at that date (the exit price).

Fair value hierarchy used in measuring the fair value of financial instruments

The best indication of fair value is quoted market prices in an active market (Level 1 of the fair value hierarchy).

If no market prices are available, the fair value is measured by using measurement models which are based on observable market data as inputs (Level 2 of the fair value hierarchy).

In some cases, the fair value of the financial asset or liability can be determined neither based on quoted market prices nor on measurement models that rely entirely on observable market data. In these cases, individual measurement parameters not observable in the market are estimated based on reasonable assumptions (Level 3 of the fair value hierarchy).

Impairment

General approach

IFRS 9 introduces a new impairment model based on expected credit losses (ECL) whereby an allowance is recognized before a credit loss is incurred.

A credit loss is the weighted average of credit losses with the respective risks of a default occurring as the weightings.

The standard assumes that each financial instrument, to the extent of impairment, (debt instruments measured at AC and FVOCI, trade receivables and contract assets under IFRS 15, lease receivables under IFRS 16 and loan commitments and financial guarantees) carries some risk of default from the moment of its origination. Therefore, allowances for such a financial instrument will be made at the time of initial recognition.

The entire ECL model is divided into three impairment stages:

- (1) initial recognition (Stage 1)
- (2) a significant increase in credit risk (Stage 2)
- (3) objective impairment (Stage 3)

GENERALI
INVESTMENTS

	Stage 1	Stage 2	Stage 3
Credit impaired financial asset:	No	No	Yes
A significant increase in credit risk:	No	Yes	Yes
Expected credit loss:	12-month	Lifetime	Lifetime
Interest income	From gross carrying amount	From gross carrying amount	From amortized cost of the asset

While in Stage 1 of impairment, allowances are recognized for a financial asset equal to the expected credit losses if the counterparty were to default within the next 12 months, allowances in Stage 2 and 3 are equal to the total expected credit losses over the life of the financial asset.

An entity shall assess at each reporting date whether the credit risk associated with a financial instrument has increased significantly since initial recognition. In making this assessment, the entity shall consider the change in the risk of default that may occur over the expected life of the financial instrument, rather than the change in the amount of expected credit losses.

A significant increase in the credit risk of a financial instrument is indicated by, e.g.:

- a) an actual or expected decline in the borrower's internal credit rating
- b) an actual or expected change in the borrower's operating profit
- c) significant increases in the credit risk of other financial instruments of the same borrower
- d) significant changes, such as a reduction in the financial support from a parent or other associate
- e) information about past due loans, including a rebuttable presumption of more than 30 days past due.

A financial asset is credit-impaired when one or more events have occurred that have an adverse effect on the estimated future cash flows associated with the asset, e.g.:

- a) significant financial problems of the issuer or borrower
- b) a breach of contract, e.g., default or past-due event (rebuttable presumption more than 90 days past due)

- c) the lenders for economic or contractual reasons relating to the borrower's financial difficulty granted the borrower a concession that would not otherwise be considered
- d) it becoming probable that the borrower will enter bankruptcy or other financial reorganization
- e) the debtor is in liquidation, etc.

The amount of impairment is equal to the expected credit losses over the life of the financial instrument. Interest income is calculated using the effective interest rate method applied to the amortized cost of the financial asset (i.e., the net carrying amount). From an income statement perspective, interest is accrued based on the gross carrying amount of the financial assets. The difference between the accrued interest on the assets and the recognized interest income is reflected in the allowance account (without affecting the impairment loss).

Calculation of expected credit losses

The key inputs for the calculation of expected credit losses (ECL) are the time structure of the following variables/parameters:

- Probability of default (PD)
- Loss given by default (LGD)
- Exposure at default (EAD)

These parameters are based on internally developed statistical models and historical data, which must be adjusted to match forward-looking information (FLI).

Simplified approach

For trade receivables and contract assets without a significant financing element, IFRS 9 offers a simplified approach whereby the Company will establish an allowance in the amount of lifetime expected credit losses.

Presentation of allowances for ECL in the balance sheet and income statement

For financial assets measured at amortized cost, the allowance is deducted from the gross carrying amount of assets.

Allowances and provisions for ECL charged to expense are recognized in the income statement under "Write-off, additions to and use of allowances and provisions for receivables, securities and guarantees". Any subsequent use of allowances is also reported in this item.

GENERALI
INVESTMENTS

The release of allowances and provisions for ECL due to their not being needed is recognized in the income statement under “Release of allowances and provisions for receivables and guarantees, income from previously written-off receivables”.

(d) Foreign currency

Financial assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies are translated into Czech crowns at the exchange rate as published by the Czech National Bank (“CNB”) as at the balance sheet date. All exchange rate gains and losses arising from monetary items are recognized in gain/loss from financial transactions.

All transactions denominated in foreign currencies are translated into Czech crowns at the exchange rate as published by CNB as at the transaction date.

(e) Fair value of securities

The fair value of a security is determined by the market value quoted by a relevant stock exchange or other active public market. In other cases the fair value is estimated as:

- the present value of future cash flows pertaining to shares and participation certificates, or
- the net present value of cash flows reflecting the involved risks pertaining to bonds and notes.

In its models designed for determining fair value of securities the Company uses only observable market data. The valuation models consider current market conditions as at the date of the valuation which do not necessarily reflect the market situation before or after the valuation date. The management of the Company reviewed these models as at the balance sheet date and considered that the models adequately reflect the current market conditions including relative market liquidity and credit spread.

(f) Securities at fair value through profit or loss

Securities at FVTPL are initially measured at fair value adjusted for transaction costs. Transaction costs are cost directly attributable to the acquisition and are not part of fair value. Securities are subsequently measured at fair value. All related gains and losses are included in gains or losses from financial transactions. Interest earned on securities at fair value through profit or loss is reported as interest income.

GENERALI
INVESTMENTS

(g) Interest income and expenses

Interest income and expenses are recognized on an accruals basis using the effective interest rate method derived from the actual acquisition cost.

The Company has no cash flows redeemable for more than 12 months. Interest income includes the accrued interests, discount and premium for all fixed income instruments.

(h) Fee and commission income, fee and commission expenses

Fee and commission income includes the fees for management of the mutual funds, front-end and back-end sales loads. Fee and commission expenses include, in particular, expenses incurred in commissions paid to agents. Fees and commissions are recognized on an accrual basis as at the date of service provision. Fees and commissions for negotiating a transaction for a third party or from a share in such a negotiation are recognized at time of transaction completion. Fees for the management and administration of assets and for consulting services are recognized on an accrual basis based on the supporting service agreements.

(i) Receivables

Receivables are measured at amortized cost in line with the business model. See note 2c.

(j) Equity

The share capital of the Company is stated at the amount recorded in the Commercial Register maintained by the Municipal Court. Any increase or decrease in the share capital made pursuant to the decision of the General Meeting which was not entered in the Commercial Register as at the date of the financial statements is recorded through changes in share capital. Contributions in excess of share capital are recorded as share premium. Other capital funds consist of monetary and non-monetary contributions in excess of share capital, tangible assets donations, etc.

(k) Provisions

Provisions are recognized when the Company has a present obligation as a result of past events and it is probable that an outflow of resources embodying economic benefits will be required to settle the obligation, and a reliable estimate of the amount of the obligation can be made. All provisions are presented in liabilities.

GENERALI
INVESTMENTS

Additions to provisions are recognized in the income statement, their utilization is recognized together with expenses or losses, for which purpose they were created, in the income statement. Release of provisions if they are no longer needed is recognized as income.

Provisions are set aside in the currency in which settlement is expected to be made.

(I) Tangible and intangible fixed assets

Tangible and intangible fixed assets are recorded at their acquisition cost and are depreciated / amortized on a straight-line basis over their estimated useful lives using the following depreciation / amortization periods:

Software	3-7 years
Buildings	50 years
Cars	5 years
Machinery and equipment	3-15 years
Furniture and fixtures	5-10 years

Intangible and tangible fixed assets with a cost of less than CZK 80,000 are always recognized in profit or loss when acquired.

The costs of repairs and maintenance of tangible fixed assets are expensed as incurred. Technical improvements to the individual assets are capitalized and depreciated.

Lease of tangible and intangible assets

Since 1 January 2021, the Company has applied International Financial Reporting Standard (IFRS) 16 Leases. Under IFRS 16, a contract is, or contains, a lease if it conveys the right to control the use of an identified asset for a period of time in exchange for consideration.

IFRS 16 brings mainly changes relating to the recognition and presentation by the lessee. The entity as a lessee shall recognise a right-of-use asset and the corresponding lease liability in the balance sheet except:

- leases with a lease term of 12 months or less;
- leases where the underlying asset has a low value

The contract contains a lease if it conveys the right to control the use of an identified asset for a period of time in exchange for consideration. The Company assesses if the individual contracts meet the lease definition, i.e., whether:

GENERALI
INVESTMENTS

- there is an identified asset and the lessor has substantive right to substitute the asset for another asset;
- the Company as a lessee has the right to obtain all of the economic benefits from use of the asset throughout the period of use;
- The Company has the right to direct the use of an identified asset, i.e., the lessor cannot change the conditions of its use.

At the commencement date, the Company recognizes in the balance sheet:

- a right-of-use asset in “Tangible fixed assets”; and
- a lease liability in “Other liabilities”.

The right-of-use is measured at cost, comprising the amount of the initial measurement of the lease liability, adjusted by any lease payments made at or before the commencement date, plus any direct costs and an estimate of costs to be incurred by the lessee in dismantling and removing the underlying asset or restoring the underlying asset, less any lease incentives received.

Subsequently, the right-of-use is depreciated from the commencement date to the earlier of the end of the useful life of the right-of-use or the end of the lease term. The expected useful life of the right-of-use is determined on the same basis as for assets; moreover, the right-of-use asset is regularly decreased by any accumulated impairment losses and adjusted for any remeasurement of the lease liability.

At the commencement date, the lease liability is measured at the present value of the lease payments that are not paid at that date using the discounted incremental borrowing rate.

The lease payments include:

- fixed payments including in-substance fixed payments;
- variable lease payments that depend on an index or a rate (initially measured using the index or rate as at the commencement date);
- amounts expected to be payable by the lessee under residual value guarantees;
- the exercise price of a purchase option if the Company expects to exercise the option and a prolongation option if the Company is reasonably certain to exercise that option; and
- payments of penalties for terminating the lease.

Subsequently, the lease liability is measured at cost using the effective interest rate method. Interest expense on the lease liability is presented separately from the depreciation charge for the right-of-use asset.

The liability is reassessed if there is a change in future lease payments resulting from a change in an index or rate, if the Company's estimates of the amount payable change, or if the Company changes its estimates regarding the exercise of an option to purchase, extend or terminate the leased asset.

If the liability is reassessed, an adjustment is made to the carrying amount of the right-of-use with an impact on assets or directly to the income statement if the right-of-use is fully amortised, i.e., the carrying amount of the asset is zero.

The Company applies an exception from the presentation of leases and does not recognise right-of-use assets or lease liabilities with a lease term of 12 months or less and / or where a leased asset has a low value. Lease payments under such contracts are charged directly to expenses on a straight-line basis over the lease term and are recognized in "Administrative expenses".

If the Company acts as a lessor, at the commencement of the lease, it shall classify the lease as either a finance lease or an operating lease. The transition to IFRS 16 did not result in the Company reporting leases differently from the lessor's perspective.

(m) Income tax

The corporate income tax expense is calculated based on the statutory tax rate and book income before taxes, increased or decreased by the appropriate permanent and temporary differences (e.g., non-deductible provisions and allowances, entertainment expenses, differences between book and tax depreciation, etc.).

(n) Deferred tax

A deferred tax liability is recognized on all temporary differences between the carrying amount of an asset or liability in the balance sheet and its tax base using the full liability method. A deferred tax asset is recognized only to the extent that there are no doubts that future taxable profits will be available, against which this asset can be utilized.

The approved tax rate for the period in which the Company expects to utilize the asset or realize the liability is used for the deferred taxation calculation.

(o) Staff costs, supplementary pension scheme and social fund

Staff costs are included in administrative expenses and they include bonuses to members of the Board of Directors and Supervisory Board.

GENERALI
INVESTMENTS

The Company makes contributions on behalf of its employees to a defined contribution pension scheme. Contributions paid by the Company are expensed as incurred.

The Company makes regular contributions to the state budget to support the national pension scheme.

The Company creates a social fund to cover the staff social needs and benefits. In accordance with the Czech accounting legislation, an allocation to the social fund is not recognized in the income statement but as profit distribution.

Similarly, the use of the social fund is not recognized in the income statement but as a decrease in the fund. The social fund forms a component of equity and is not presented as a liability.

(p) Use of estimates

The preparation of financial statements requires using the estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosures of contingent assets and liabilities as at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. These estimates are based on the information available as at the date of the financial statements and actual results may differ from those estimates.

(q) Related parties

Material transactions, outstanding balances and pricing policies with related parties are disclosed in Notes 4, 6, 9, 16, 18 and 24.

(r) Off-balance sheet items

In the Company's accounting, only assets received for management from third parties are presented in the off-balance sheet accounts.

All the assets and liabilities of the Company are presented either in the balance sheet or in the off-balance sheet accounts.

(s) Subsequent events

The effect of events that occurred between the balance sheet date and the financial statements date is reflected in the financial statements if these events provide additional evidence of conditions that existed at the balance sheet date.

If, between the balance sheet date and the financial statements date, significant events occurred that are indicative of conditions that arose after the balance sheet date, the effect of these events is not recognized in the financial statements but disclosed in the notes to the financial statements.

20 FAIR VALUE

The fair value of financial instruments is the amount for which an asset can be sold or a liability settled between knowledgeable parties in an arm's length transaction. Fair value estimates are based on quoted market prices, where available.

However, no quoted market prices are available for a significant portion of the Company's financial instruments. Where quoted market prices are not readily available, fair value is estimated using discounted cash flow models or other acceptable pricing models. The estimates are significantly affected by changes in the underlying assumptions – discount rates, estimated future cash flows, etc. – therefore, these estimates may differ from the selling price of the financial instrument.

Fair value hierarchy

IFRS 7 specifies a hierarchy of valuation techniques based on whether the inputs to those valuation techniques are observable. Observable inputs reflect market data obtained from independent sources; unobservable inputs reflect the Company's assumptions. These two types of inputs comprise the following fair value hierarchy:

Level 1 - Quoted prices (unadjusted) in active markets for identical assets and liabilities. This level includes, e.g., exchange-traded listed securities, highly liquid OTC listed securities (source e.g., Bloomberg) and highly liquid exchange-traded financial derivatives.

Level 2 - Prices for financial assets or liabilities measured by a model with all significant inputs objectively observable in the market. Sources for input parameters such as PRIBOR are Bloomberg and Reuters. This level includes, e.g., less liquid securities, OTC derivatives, term deposits, receivables and payables from the sale and purchase of securities.

Level 3 - Prices for financial assets or liabilities measured by a model with not all significant inputs observable from the market. This level includes securities and derivatives that do not qualify for classification in Level 2, such as equity interests in real estate companies, loans to these companies, or illiquid bonds with significant inputs that are not observable in the market.

In determining the fair value of financial instruments, the Company uses the following methods:

Cash on hand and amounts due from banks – deposits payable on demand

The value of cash in current accounts with banks and cash on hand corresponds to their fair value.

Term deposits, loans granted, repurchase agreements

The Company measures these assets using the discounted future cash flow method considering credit risk.

Securities

The fair value of a security is its quoted price in an active market. Where a quoted price is not available, the Company also uses models based on the net present value of future cash flows, considering credit risk in the form of a credit spread to determine fair value. To measure less liquid bonds, the Company uses other methods and sources, such as the Refinitive source.

21 FINANCIAL RISKS

The Company is exposed to financial risks which are determined by the following aspects:

- The Company's principal business activity is the management of client portfolios, i.e., the business of managing client assets and the management and administration of investment funds. The various types of activities carried out by the Company are limited by the scope of the Czech National Bank's license and the Company's internal regulations. For its own account, the Company carries out only deposit operations in relation to banks in the territory of a member state and the acquisition of securities of investment funds managed by the Company.
- In terms of the materiality of risks, the Company is mainly exposed to market, credit and operational risks. Other risk categories are represented marginally in the total mix.

(a) Market and credit risk

The Company is mainly exposed to credit risk from money market deposit transactions with banks in the territory of a member state and from regular commercial and contractual relations. The conditions for deposit operations are laid down in internal regulations.

The Company holds cash and establishes term deposits with reputable banking institutions in the Czech Republic. All these institutions are rated investment-grade, and therefore the credit risk arising from these receivables is low, with ratings from Moody's and Standard & Poor's ranging from A- to AA-. Another aspect of credit risk is the risk arising from investments in investment funds managed by the Company. The credit risk is diversified here in accordance with the funds' statutes.

Another tool used is the value-at-risk (VaR) model, which provides an estimate of the Company's maximum potential loss over a time period at a given confidence level.

The variance and covariance method are used with assumptions of a normal distribution of risk factors, a 99% confidence level, and a holding period of 1 month.

The following table shows the VaRs for the market risks to which the Company is exposed:

(c) Interest rate risk

Interest rate risk is the risk that the value of a financial instrument will fluctuate due to changes in market interest rates. As a result of such changes, interest margins may vary and generate gains or losses in the event of unexpected movements in the market interest rates.

Another aspect of interest rate risk is the risk arising from investments in investment funds managed by the Company. Interest rate risk is diversified here in accordance with the funds' statutes.

The only interest-bearing items are represented by the amounts due from banks of CZK 570,139 thousand as at 31 December 2022 (2021: CZK 659,951 thousand), the residual maturity of which is less than 1 month.

disclosures in the financial services sector, i.e., the SFDR (Sustainable Finance Disclosure Regulation).

For several years, the Generali group has been increasing its share of investments in ecology and renewable energy resources. In creating investment products and managing funds, we thoroughly abide by the rules set out by the Generali group. These rules are based on the principles of the Global Compact (the world's largest UN-led corporate social responsibility initiative) and the UN Principles for Responsible Investment.

Our CSR and environmental plans take concrete form in a set of direct and indirect measures: The Generali group directly influences the environment in its day-to-day activities. The main emphasis is placed on reducing the consumption of energies, water, and working materials and on waste sorting. The Company also focuses on another important areas – using modern technologies, reducing the number of unnecessary business trips, support of shared travelling and using public transport by employees.

We also exercise indirect influence through the selection of responsible business partners, in particular service suppliers and issuers of securities.

The funds promote certain environmental and social characteristics during the implementation of the investment strategy and invest in securities meeting these criteria.

The assessment of investment suitability will include an assessment of coal sector activities and good corporate governance practice of companies or issuers of securities.

The funds only invest in companies with responsible governance procedures.

The information for assessing the ESG profile of the issuers of the Fund's underlying assets comes from external data sources. Considering the existing constraints, the Company obtains the information with the maximum effort to prevent any distortion of publicly presented data. They do not follow any reference indicators (benchmarks) designed to achieve the specific environmental or social attributes.

The Company established no provision related to legal risks in 2022 and 2021.

24 OPERATING RISK

The Company uses a multi-tier system of permanent controls, starting from department heads over the controls carried out periodically by Risk Management and Compliance departments to reviews by the internal audit function within the approved annual control plan. The purpose of these controls is to monitor and analyse operational risks relevant to individual Company's processes and adopt measures to eliminate or limit such risks. Both outcomes of the controls and identified violations are reported to the parent company on a regular basis.

26 SIGNIFICANT EVENTS

The Russian war in Ukraine posed an improbable scenario for investment markets in 2022. In their immediate response, a heightened risk aversion led to a global sell-off, with Russian assets in particular coming under enormous pressure. However, investors also withdrew massively out of Central and Eastern European countries. In contrast, the prices of selected commodities continued to grow. This continued rise in mineral fuel prices and the secondary effects of disrupted supply chains, which by then had not recovered from the coronavirus shock, triggered a new round of inflationary pressures to which central banks decided to respond with more aggressive monetary tightening and rate increases globally. Generally, financial markets recovered from the initial shock within several weeks. Broad equity indices were at pre-Russian invasion levels in Ukraine at the end of the first quarter, and US stocks, e.g., have strengthened in the interim. For foreign investors on the Russian government's hostile list, however, the situation for Russian stocks and bonds has improved only very slightly. The option to use Russian assets remains severely limited, marked not only by general sanctions imposed by several countries, but also by retaliatory measures by the Russian government. The reflection of the likelihood of default or possible unwillingness to pay its obligations marks the valuation of Russian state-owned and corporate bonds.

The impact on the Company is mostly secondary in the form of slightly lower revenue from the assets under management, but it does not appear to be significant in terms of the Company's overall performance. The Company's management has considered the potential impact on its operations and concluded that the assumption that the Company will continue as a going concern is indisputable.
