Risk profile

The indicator above is not a measure of the risk of capital loss, but a measure of the Fund’s price movement over time. It is based on historical data and thus may not be a reliable indication for the future risk profile of the Fund. The indicated risk category is not guaranteed and may shift over time. The indicator is designed to help investors understand the uncertainties both for loss and for growth that may affect their investment. In this context, the lowest category does not mean a “risk free” investment. The Fund does not provide its investors with any guarantee on performance, nor on the monies invested in it.

The Fund was classified to risk group 4 based on historical fluctuations of the Fund units for the last 5 years which is a reflection of the way of investing and investment policy described above. Where a full returns history unavailable, Generali Investments CEE identify the Fund’s representative portfolio model and/or target asset mix.

Risks materially relevant to the Fund which are not adequately captured by the indicator:

- Interest risk: Risk implied from dependency of debt securities on market interest rates movements. If interest rates are increased, securities value may decrease and vice versa.

- Credit risk: Risk implied by the issuer’s incapacity to pay its payables. It is usually determined based on the issuer’s creditworthiness taken into account in the respective rating.
- Currency risk: Risk emerging when fund implements its investments through an asset in foreign currencies. The value of assets is then influenced by foreign exchange rates fluctuations.
- Derivatives risk: Risk implied from underlying assets on which derivatives are based (such as foreign exchange rates or interest rates).
- Settlement risk: Risk that a counterparty fails to perform its contractual obligations as a result of internal processes failure or external events.
- Investment in Russia: Some equity securities in Russia are dematerialized and the only evidence of ownership is entry of the shareholder’s name on the share register of the issues. The concept of fiduciary duty is not well established and shareholders may, therefore, suffer dilution or loss of investment due to the actions of management without satisfactory legal remedy.
- Concentration risk: Risk implied from the possibility of failure of investments oriented to a certain common factor, such as business in the same branch or same geographical area or trading with the same commodity etc.

Please see the section entitled “Risk Factors” in the Prospectus and in the Fund Supplement for a full list of risks related to the Fund.
